Understanding Your Credit Score
What you should know about credit scores	Your credit score is a number that reflects the information in your credit report.  Your credit report is a record of your credit history. It includes information about whether you pay your bills on time and how much you owe to creditors.  Your credit score can change, depending on how your credit history changes.
How we use your credit score	Your credit score can affect whether you can get a loan and how much you will have to pay for that loan.
The range of scores	Scores range from a low of 320 to a high of 844.  Generally, the higher your score, the more likely you are to be offered better credit terms.
How your score compares to the scores of other consumers	Your credit score ranks higher than 53 percent of U.S. consumers.
Key factors that adversely affected your credit score	Number of accounts with delinquency. Proportion of balance to high credit on bank revolving or all revolving accounts. Too many inquiries last 12 months. Too many accounts with balances.

Checking Your Credit Report
What if there are mistakes in your credit report?	You have a right to dispute any inaccurate information in your credit report. If you find mistakes on your credit report, contact the consumer reporting agency.  It is a good idea to check your credit report to make sure the information it contains is accurate.
How can you obtain a copy of your credit report?	Under federal law, you have the right to obtain a free copy of your credit report from each of the nationwide consumer reporting agencies once a year.
